

Parlour Patio Garden Hook Instruction Supplement

The Parlour Patio Garden Hook is very easy to assemble. There are just a few tips that will make the process smoother:

Do not tighten ANY screws. Save this for the very last step in the process.

If you have any trouble matching predrilled holes to screws check to make sure that all screws are loosened. It may help to wiggle the bench a little while trying to push the screws through the holes.

Assemble the base first. Next, set the ring with the fitting attached on the column. Then, feed the second ring through the first. You will have to over extend the second ring to match up the scrolling on top. Bring the second ring back down to agree with the placement of the screw hole at the bottom, where the two rings intersect. Insert the screw at the intersection of the two rings. Screw in the basket hook. Insert the screw at the top end of the column.

When assembly is complete, tighten all screws to secure. The Parlour Patio Garden Hook is a great way to add character to your garden, patio, or porch. It works well in indoor applications, as well.
